

ISO 9001:2000 Quality Management System

Developing Successful Businesses

What is ISO 9001:2000?

ISO 9000 has become the most important, and most recognised, business management standard in the world.

Hundreds of thousands of companies in well over 100 countries have already adopted it.

Why?

Because: -

- It controls quality
- It saves money
- Customers expect it
- Competitors have it
- It is a fantastic business tool

Is it relevant for me?

ISO 9000 applies to ALL types of organisations. It doesn't matter what you do or what size you are, public sector or private. It can help BOTH product and service orientated organisations achieve standards of quality that are recognised and respected throughout the world.

GHRL Clients come from a wide and varied range of industry sectors:

- Biotechnology
- Construction
- Communications
- Electronics
- Oil & Gas
- Technology
- Manufacturing
- Education

Already got a System?

Then GHRL can manage the system on your behalf. Our Interim Management Service enables you to have a Quality management Professional 'on tap' without the cost of actually employing someone.

Who are GHRL?

GHRL is an independent organisation specialising in Interim Management and Business Support.

The Directors of GHRL have a long history of helping organisations throughout the UK and overseas to implement and manage quality and environmental management systems.

Who are GHRL?

Our team comprise experienced business people who use a practical, no-nonsense approach.
